

FROM THE UPSTATE CHAPTER OF THE SC NATIVE PLANT SOCIETY

COLOR YOUR WORLD with natives

www.scnps.org

Flame Azalea Rhododendron calendulaceum

The brilliant orange, yellow, or red flowers of this shrub make it easy to see how it got its name!

In June, it and two other species of native azaleas can usually be seen blooming on Wayah Bald in North Carolina — making a spectacular show.

Illustration by Paul E. Kennedy for American Wild Flowers Coloring Book
© Dover Publications