

12th Annual Symposium South Carolina Native Plant Society

May 7 – 9, 2010

Co-sponsored by Magnolia Plantation & Gardens
Charleston

NURTURE It's our turn

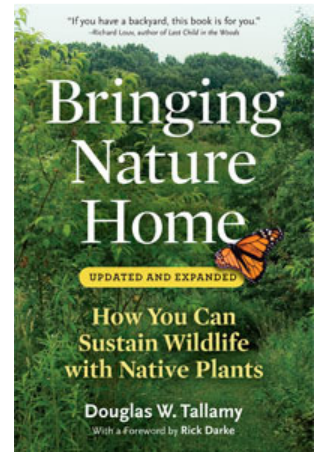

The South Carolina Native Plant Society's 2010 Symposium, Nurture Nature, brings together a diverse group of people from across South Carolina—master gardeners & horticulturists, home gardeners, landscape architects, nursery & landscape professionals, professors and students, as well as representatives from state and local government—to learn and share best practices for sustaining biodiversity in our own backyards.

The Symposium's Keynote Speaker, Dr. Douglas Tallamy, is the nationally-acclaimed author of Bringing Nature Home: How You Can Sustain Wildlife with Native Plants. Dr. Tallamy is Professor and Chair of the Department of Entomology and Wildlife Ecology at the University of Delaware.

The two-day Symposium, held on the grounds of the historic Magnolia Plantation & Gardens, features lectures, field trips and panel discussions. Symposium Partners include The Nature Conservancy and the Charleston Parks Conservancy.

Sponsorships are available for general support and for individual events. Please see the back of this sheet for sponsorship information.

Praise for Bringing Nature Home

"Provides the rationale behind the use of native plants, a concept that has rapidly been gaining momentum. The impact on our environment is huge. The text makes a case for native plants and animals in a compelling and complete fashion."

--Joel M. Lerner, Washington Post
